

SHORTEST

Message on Record.

President Roosevelt's Nearly Ready.

Will Not Recommend Special Trust Legislation.

Washington, Oct. 28.—(Spl.)—What will, in all probability, be the shortest Presidential message ever sent from the White House to the Capitol is nearing completion now. President Roosevelt has intimated to the members of his Cabinet, that he will read the message as far as completed to them some time this week, probably on Friday.

It is understood that reciprocity, the trusts encouragement of the merchant marine, the Pacific cable, the Nicaraguan canal and the need of a greater navy will be the principal topics discussed.

Regarding trusts, the President, although holding strong opinions, will not recommend any special legislation but will tell Congress that such measures should be passed as will prevent the giant combinations from menacing the prosperity of the country. It is understood that the President does not favor a further reduction of the war taxes.

He also says that Washington exercises altogether too much authority over the department commanders and he recommends decentralization as soon as possible. He considers the centralization principle a defect in our military system.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 28.—(Spl.)—Charles Webb, aged 22, died last night from the effects of corrosive poisoning administered by unknown parties last Friday. His mother, Rebecca Webb, is at death's door from the same cause. His sister Cora was also poisoned, but was the least affected and late yesterday morning responded to the call of a neighbor whose attention was attracted by groans from the house.

She said she and her mother had eaten chicken and a coconut pudding for dinner Friday and she thought her illness came either from this or from the fumes of escaping coal gas, but she could not account for the illness of her brother who had not taken dinner with them.

Instead of calling help she lay on the bed and went to sleep until aroused by the neighbors. She is kept under surveillance at the hospital, while another brother, U. Grant Webb, who was ordered from home a week ago, because he would not assist in the support of the family, was placed under arrest.

Luser. All were taken to the Long Island college hospital, where the physicians said that Monahan would die and the others might not recover.
